ACKNOWLEDGMENT

This thesis would not be possible without the guidance and help of several individuals, who in one way or another had contributed and extended their valuable assistance in the preparation and completion of this study.

Dr. Excel G. Solilapsi, our adviser, for the guidance, patience, and inspiration that we would be able to persevere towards the completion of the study;

Dr. Meriam G. Solilapsi, Dean of College, chair of the panel committee, for her professional assistance, encouragement, and suggestions, which provided the researchers with a clear direction that helped them in the realization of this research;

Dr. John B. Visillas, our panelist, for his scholarly comments and suggestions for the refinement of this study;

Mr. Dariel Babanto, our Values Education instructor, for the words of encouragement and professional guidance;

Mrs. Geniveb V. Taganna, our instructor for being a supportive role model.

Our classmate and friend Ricamel Matanggan, for the support, thoughtful study buddy shared thoughts and ideas, and friendship;

Participants of the study, whose honesty and willingness to participate made this study possible;

Our brothers and sisters, for all the encouragement and assistance;

Our parents, for the love and the unending assistance and inspiration;

And finally, to God, for all the answered prayers, for all the strength to continue despite trials and hindrances. To God be the Glory!

DEVELOPMENT

ABSTRACT

The purpose of this study was to examine the shared experiences of Junior High School students at North Davao College (NDC) regarding the influence of teacher modeling of grammar usage on their language development. A qualitative research design was employed in this study. Data were gathered through in-depth interviews and focused group discussions involving five student participants. Findings of the study revealed significant themes, including Supportive Teaching Methods, Impact of Teaching Methods Teacher Effectiveness, Significance of Teacher Modeling in Grammar Instruction, Application of Grammar Skills Across Context, Feedback and Error Correction as Learning Tools, Impact of Creative Teaching Methods on Grammar Learning, The Long-Term Value of Grammar Proficiency, Enhanced Learning Through Student Engagement.

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

Background of the Study

The debate on the prime role of grammar knowledge in language¹ learning and its reflections on the educational outcomes has been a matter of research for some time. Grammar is a vexed, if not controversial, area of language teaching and learning. However, along with a richness created by the differences in background, language learning experience and teaching experience of students, comes differences in grammatical and linguistic knowledge. It is these differences which provide challenges for the program. In the realm of language education, teacher modeling has emerged as a promising approach for fostering student language development. However, recent research conducted in 2020 and beyond has shed light on several critical issues that warrant closer examination. One significant challenge lies in the concept of implicit learning, which forms the basis of teacher modeling. While students are believed to absorb language through exposure, studies by Long (2020) underscore the importance of comprehensibility – students must grasp the language they are exposed to. Another pressing concern pertains to the nuanced nature of grammar. While some grammatical structures may be readily acquired through modeling, others may require more explicit instruction. Furthermore, the variability in teacher effectiveness adds another layer of complexity. Factors such as experience, language proficiency, and awareness of modeling practices all influence teachers' ability to effectively model grammar. By addressing these challenges, this research aims to contribute to a deeper understanding of teacher modeling and its role in bridging the grammar gap for students in diverse learning environments. (Long, M. H. 2020)

Educators worldwide confront the formidable task of nurturing effective student language development. Within Brazil, a nation renowned for its diverse linguistic heritage and a burgeoning multilingual student populace, educators encounter a distinctive challenge: ensuring equitable access to grammar proficiency for all students, irrespective of their native language backgrounds. In response to this challenge, this study delves into the potential of teacher modeling of grammar usage, a pedagogical concept gaining momentum in academic discourse since 2020, to address this specific educational dilemma within the Brazilian context. Conventional grammar pedagogy in Brazil often leans heavily on mechanical memorization and repetitive exercises, resulting in student disengagement and an incomplete understanding of language intricacies. This approach, known as the "grammar-translation method," has drawn criticism for its limited effectiveness in fostering communicative competence. Recent scholarship emerging from 2020 onwards underscores the significance of meaningful language exposure, advocating for learning environments where grammar comprehension occurs organically through interactive tasks and comprehensible input. The concept of modeling extends beyond geographical boundaries and linguistic barriers. Students, regardless of their mother tongues, acquire language skills through observation and imitation of their surroundings. Within the classroom setting, teachers serve as primary language models, significantly shaping students' grammatical acumen and linguistic development. (Silva, T. 2020)

In the recent language proficiency test survey done by the Hopkins International Partners, students from the Philippines got a lower average in English proficiency compared to Thailand. This simply implies that the Philippines is experiencing a sudden decline in the rank of English proficient Asian countries (GMA News Online, 2018). There is an awareness among senior high school students of the importance of choosing the learning strategies that best meet the demands of the language task at hand. Their choice of metacognitive strategies suggests that they tend to be more intrinsically motivated to plan, direct, manage, and maximize their own learning. With high frequency of use of metacognitive strategies followed by the social strategies and affective strategies, it implies that the students favor the use of indirect strategies rather than direct strategies (Ella, J. 2018). Further, the relationship between language learning strategy use and writing tasks was found to be complex, which was atypical in correlation studies. The complexity of the learning phenomenon may have been affected by personal and social factors. Some students are not familiar with the grammar rules, especially the parts of speech, subject-verb agreement, phrases, clauses, sentences, and sentence patterns. They cannot even identify the complete sentence to clauses or phrases. That is why they cannot construct even simple sentences. The teacher education student students are future educators, so they must be fluent in speaking and writing (Salagun, R. 2021).

The Philippines, distinguished by its diverse multilingual heritage with English as the official medium of instruction, grapples with a persistent educational challenge: ensuring the proficiency of all students, particularly those in public schools, in the English language. This study delves into the prevalent grammar gap encountered by Filipino students, with a specific focus on exploring the potential efficacy of teacher modeling of grammar usage as a remedial strategy in the contemporary educational landscape of the 2020s. Conventional English language teaching practices in the Philippines often heavily rely on code-switching between English and Filipino languages, a method that can engender confusion among students. Moreover, an emphasis on rote memorization and repetitive drills may hinder students' ability to effectively communicate in English. This challenge is exacerbated in public schools, characterized by large class sizes and limited resources. Scholarship emerging since 2020 underscores the significance of meaningful language exposure, advocating for a learning environment where students acquire grammar through contextualized learning and interactive engagement.(Canlas, N. L. S. 2020).

The field of language education faces a notable gap concerning the optimal techniques for teacher modeling of grammar usage. While some research underscores the significance of explicit instruction, others advocate for more implicit modeling approaches. This lack of consensus poses a formidable challenge for educators striving to employ evidence-based strategies to bolster student language development (Jones & Smith, 2020). Without a clear direction on which modeling techniques yield the most effective results, educators are left navigating through a maze of methodologies, hindering the progress of student language proficiency. The pressing need to address effective teacher modeling of grammar arises from the increasing linguistic diversity observed in classrooms globally. With a surge in students hailing from diverse language backgrounds, educators are confronted with the task of ensuring equitable language development opportunities for all learners. Effective modeling of grammar usage becomes indispensable in fostering the linguistic advancement of students with varied language proficiencies and backgrounds (Garcia & Lee, 2021).

Research Questions

1. How do students perceive teachers who model grammatical structures in their spoken and written communication?

1.1 Can you describe an experience where you observed a teacher modeling grammatical structures in their spoken or written communication?

1.2 How did this experience impact your perception of the teacher's effectiveness in conveying language skills?

2. From your perspective as a student, how important is it for teachers to model correct grammatical usage towards student language development?

2.1 How do you perceive the role of teachers in modeling correct grammatical usage for your language development?

2.2 How does a teacher's ability to model correct grammatical usage influence your own language development and proficiency?

3. Reflecting on your educational experiences, do you believe that teachers who effectively model correct grammatical usage contribute to a supportive learning environment for language development?

3.1 What specific strategies or methods do you believe teachers can employ to effectively model correct grammatical usage towards language development?

3.2 Reflecting on your interactions with teachers who effectively model correct grammatical usage, how do you think this impacted the overall learning environment for language development?

Review of Related Literature

Enhancing students' proficiency in English grammar is an ever-evolving journey within the landscape of education. As language remains a pivotal tool for effective communication, educators and researchers alike continually seek innovative pedagogical approaches to impart grammatical skills (Apsari, 2018). Traditionally, grammar instruction often relied on memorization and rule-based methods, but the contemporary educational milieu calls for a departure from these conventional strategies. In recent years, a paradigm shift towards more engaging and interactive teaching models has emerged. Leveraging technology, educators have embraced interactive software, educational apps, and online platforms to create dynamic and immersive learning experiences (Liando et al., 2023). This departure from traditional methods has opened avenues for project-based learning and experiential activities, providing students with a deeper understanding of grammatical concepts through hands-on engagement. Classroom action research has emerged as a potent methodology to assess and refine grammar instruction strategies. Educators actively participate in the research process, applying interventions such as tailored lesson plans and targeted assessments. This approach not only evaluates the effectiveness of teaching methods but also allows for real-time adjustments to cater to the evolving needs of students (Apsari et al., 2019).

Another promising development is the adoption of individualized learning plans. Acknowledging the diversity in students' learning styles and paces, these plans tailor grammar instruction to address each student's specific strengths and weaknesses, fostering a more personalized and effective learning journey. Recognizing that students absorb information through various sensory channels, the integration of multimodal learning approaches has gained traction. Visual aids, audio resources, and kinesthetic activities are incorporated into grammar instruction to create a holistic learning environment (Mufida, 2021).

This accommodates diverse learning preferences, making grammar instruction more accessible and engaging for a broader spectrum of students. Additionally, a shift towards task-based learning emphasizes the practical application of grammar in real-world scenarios. By presenting students with authentic tasks that demand language skills, educators bridge the gap between theoretical grammar knowledge and its practical usage, enhancing the transferability of language skills beyond the classroom. Furthermore, the role of feedback in grammar instruction cannot be overstated. Constructive feedback, both formative and summative, serves as a crucial element in guiding students toward improvement (Kustiningsih, 2019).

Timely and targeted feedback helps students understand their mistakes, reinforcing the learning process and encouraging a growth mindset. Moreover, fostering a positive and supportive learning environment is paramount. Creating a classroom culture that values linguistic diversity and encourages students to take risks in their language use can significantly contribute to enhanced proficiency (Sari, 2020). Additionally, the journey to enhance students' proficiency in English grammar involves an interplay of innovative teaching models, individualized approaches, multimodal strategies, and real-world applications. By embracing these progressive methodologies, educators pave the way for a more engaging, effective, and inclusive grammar instruction, empowering students with the linguistic tools necessary for successful communication in the ever-evolving global landscape. Grammar may be roughly defined as the way a language manipulates and combines words in order to form longer units of meaning. There is a set of rules which govern how units of meaning may be constructed in any language: one may say that a learner who knows grammar is one who has mastered and can apply these rules to express him or herself in the acceptability of the language forms (Chung and Pullum, 2015).

Furthermore, it emphasizes the significance of materials development in language program. According to her, teachers should not be discouraged if textbooks are not available as long as they have the objectives of the teachinglearning process or they are familiar with the needs of the learners because they can develop their own materials to achieve their objectives. However, she advises that materials that are appropriate for a particular class need to have an underlying instructional philosophy, approach, method and technique which suit the needs of both the students and teachers (Patel, 2017). In addition, grammar is the system of rules used to create sentences refers to the knowledge of parts of speech, tenses, phrases, clauses and syntactic structures used to create grammatically well-formed sentences in English. The rules for constructing grammatically correct sentences belong to sentence grammar (Richards, 2016). Teaching grammar is an essential aspect of language education, and educators play a crucial role in shaping students' linguistic competence. As we delve into the world of grammar instruction, it becomes apparent that adopting dynamic methods not only enhances the learning experience but also empowers teachers to make a lasting impact on their students. In this blog, we will explore innovative approaches that can be employed to create an engaging and effective grammar instruction environment (Charo, 2022).

In most ELT classes, the importance of grammar, how it should be taught or how much it should be integrated into language teaching are still matters of discussion. (Murat, 2017) Grammar Instruction has an important role to play in helping students to speak and write more effectively. (Robinsons, L. Feng, J. 2016) Facilitating students to succeed in learning grammar has received a lot of critical attention from teachers. Grammar mastery is perceived as a determining aspect for the students to communicate accurately in a written form, yet they often encounter problems to acquire it. Students may have basic knowledge of the rules or of sentence structures, but most of them still make frequent mistakes as well as errors in their subsequent writing although teachers have provided adequate feedback (Mufanti, R. et.al 2019). Grammar is typically taught by teachers by providing both grammatical themes and grammar patterns. Simple present tense, conjunction, article, singular and plural, and other grammar topics will not be taught as part of the language skills that are being taught. Furthermore, rather than combining grammar with language abilities, grammar books primarily include the grammar formula and give examples in the form of sentences. The literature on English grammar is mostly on its history, standardization, educational implementations, how ideologies shape its frequency of usage, and how it is perceived by students learning English as a second language. (Bassett, E. 2022)

In the integration of grammar instruction into comprehensive language learning programs remains a pivotal component in developing linguistic competence. While traditional methods of teaching grammar often isolated rules and formulaic patterns from language usage, recent research emphasizes contextual and functional approaches to grammar teaching. These methods ensure that grammatical rules are presented in conjunction with their practical applications, fostering meaningful communication skills (Ellis, 2016). A significant shift in grammar instruction is the incorporation of Task-Based Language Teaching (TBLT), which prioritizes the completion of real-world tasks over isolated grammar drills. TBLT encourages students to use grammar as a tool to achieve communicative goals, promoting language fluency and accuracy simultaneously. For instance, through activities like collaborative writing or role-playing scenarios, students internalize grammatical structures in meaningful contexts, making the learning process more effective and engaging (Long, 2015). The advent of digital tools and blended learning has revolutionized grammar instruction. E-learning platforms such as Grammarly, Kahoot!, and Quizlet provide learners with immediate feedback, personalized practice sessions, and interactive activities that reinforce grammar skills. Studies reveal that integrating digital tools with traditional instruction enhances students' motivation and helps them retain grammatical concepts more effectively (Azar & Hagen, 2020).

Online platforms offer adaptive learning opportunities tailored to individual learners' progress, addressing diverse learning needs in classrooms. The role of contrastive analysis in grammar instruction has been widely acknowledged. By comparing the learners' native language grammar with English grammar, educators can identify potential areas of difficulty and preempt common errors. Explicit error correction strategies, when delivered constructively, enable learners to recognize and correct their mistakes, contributing to long-term grammatical competence (Richards & Schmidt, 2013). Sociocultural factors also play a crucial role in shaping grammar instruction. Research indicates that incorporating culturally relevant materials and examples into grammar lessons enhances students' engagement and comprehension.

By connecting grammatical concepts to real-life cultural contexts, educators help learners develop a deeper appreciation for language as a medium of communication and cultural exchange (Lantolf & Thorne, 2006).

Furthermore the evolution of grammar instruction from traditional rule-based approaches to dynamic, context-driven strategies reflects the growing emphasis on communicative competence in language education. (Ellis, 2016) By leveraging innovative methodologies such as TBLT, blended learning, and sociocultural integration, educators create inclusive and engaging environments that address the diverse needs of learners. (Lestsri & Uyun 2019) As the field continues to evolve, future research should focus on exploring the efficacy of emerging technologies and multimodal resources in grammar instruction, ensuring that language learners are equipped with the tools necessary for effective communication (Godwin-Jones, 2018) Incorporating gamification into grammar lessons has emerged as a promising strategy to enhance students' motivation and engagement. Gamified activities such as grammar quizzes, interactive storytelling, and competitive team exercises while promoting mastery of grammatical concepts. As the field of grammar instruction continues to evolve, the technology, gamification, and collaborative approaches offers new avenues for enhancing students' grammatical proficiency.

Theoretical Framework

This research is based on the concept of Social Learning Theory (Bandura, 1977). Social Learning Theory provides the foundation for this study, which explores how individuals learn through social interaction. It posits that learning is a social process where people acquire new behaviors, skills, and attitudes by observing others. This theory integrates cognitive, behavioral, and environmental influences. This theory provides valuable insights into the processes through which individuals acquire new behaviors and attitudes. It highlights the importance of social influences and the power of observation in the learning process.

This theory is related to the present study since the theory offers a powerful lens to understand why teacher modeling of grammar is effective for student language development. Through observational learning, a core principle of the theory, students exposed to teachers who consistently use proper grammar receive a blueprint for correct language use. However, simply seeing the behavior isn't enough. Teachers can enhance learning by capturing student attention with clear explanations alongside modeling. Social Learning Theory also highlights the importance of imitation and practice. When teachers provide positive feedback for students who use correct grammar, it incentivizes them to practice and internalize the structures. Finally, the theory recognizes the value of social interaction. By offering opportunities for students to use the modeled grammar in discussions, activities, or written work, teachers can provide feedback and guide the learning process. In essence, teacher modeling equips students with clear examples for them to observe, imitate, and practice under teacher guidance, perfectly aligning with Social Learning Theory's principles to promote effective language development.

Significance of the Study

This study is significant and beneficial to the following:

To the Students, they can develop further by applying the importance of grammar by their own. Understanding and refining it by effectively using their enhanced knowledge of grammar usage may develop language skills that empower them to communicate eloquently, express ideas with clarity, and engage in various academic and professional settings.

To the Teachers, they can reinforce the importance of grammar through their own usage, serving as role models for students. Understanding and modeling correct grammar helps teachers to more effectively teach language concepts and provide clearer instructions. Additionally, this study can inform teachers about the impact of their language use on student learning, encouraging continuous professional growth and development in language instruction techniques.

To School Heads, insights from the study can guide school leaders in developing and refining language arts curricula that emphasize grammar. The study highlights areas where teachers might need additional training or support, helping school heads to plan targeted professional development programs. By improving language instruction, school heads can enhance overall student performance, which reflects positively on the school's academic standing.

To the Parents, understanding the importance of teacher modeling in grammar can encourage parents to reinforce good language habits at home. Parents can better support their children's language development if they are aware of the effective practices used in schools. Knowledge of the study can help parents make informed decisions about their children's education and the importance of strong language skills.

To the Future Researchers, this study provides a basis for future research on the impact of teacher behavior on student outcomes, encouraging more in-depth exploration. Researchers can identify gaps in the existing literature and explore new dimensions of teacher influence on language development. The study's design and findings offer valuable insights into effective research methods and approaches for investigating educational practices. Future researchers can explore connections between language development, cognitive psychology, and educational theory, leading to a more comprehensive understanding of the subject.

Definition of Terms

The following were the terms used by the researcher in the study to have parallel understanding with the readers.

Grammar Usage. The application of grammar rules and conventions in spoken and written language, including sentence structure, verb tenses, parts of speech, and punctuation.

Instructional Strategy. A systematic approach or method used by teachers to facilitate student learning and achievement in a specific area, such as grammar instruction.

Teacher Modeling. The practice of teachers demonstrating correct grammar usage to students through explicit examples, explanations, and demonstrations.

Student Language Development. The growth and improvement of students' language skills, encompassing vocabulary, grammar, syntax, fluency, and overall communication proficiency.

CHAPTER 2

METHOD

This chapter presents the research design, research locale, population and sample, research instruments, data collection, ethical considerations, and statistical tools used.

Research Design

This study employed the qualitative method of research using the teacher modeling of grammar usage and students language development approach in the students of North Davao Colleges Inc. The plan and structure of this research was to provide a credible answer to the research questions.

The qualitative method was appropriate for the present investigation because qualitative method provides a thorough examination of people's experiences, behaviors, and viewpoints, they were appropriate for teacher modeling of grammar usage and students language development. By employing methods such as observations, interviews, and document analysis. Researchers can gain valuable insights into the complexity involved language acquisition. With regard to teacher modeling grammar , qualitative methodologies allow researchers to look at the subtle ways in which teachers model language structures, offer feedback, and plan lessons. This method enables a comprehensive knowledge of successful teaching strategies that goes beyond only measuring results. According to Johnson (2004), when it comes to language development of pupils, qualitative approaches make it easier to investigate elements that have a significant impact on language acquisition like motivation, cultural background and unique learning styles.

Additionally, Researchers can learn more about the mechanism behind language development by interacting with children in naturalistic contexts and examining how they engage with language. The teacher modeling of grammar usage and students language development approach is applied to this research because the main goal of this study is to comprehend the lived experiences and individualized viewpoints of those who are affected by the issue. Phenomenology enables academics to examine how teachers and students make sense of grammar education and language acquisition, as well as their views and interpretations of it. Phenomenology seeks to uncover the underlying meanings and essences of experiences related to language learning and teaching (Creswell, 2013).

Research Locale

The finding of this study was specific to the context of North Davao Colleges, Inc. in Panabo City, Davao del Norte. Panabo City is a component of city in the province of Davao Del Norte which located in Region 11. It has 40 barangays and has a population of 209,230 according to the 2020 census. Panabo City is a part of Davao Metropolitan Area as it shares borders with Davao City. It has an area of 25,123 hectares or 62, 080 acres. The venue of the study is in North Davao Colleges, Inc. in Panabo City of Davao Del Norte. It is a private school founded in the ywar of 1985. The school provides program for Pre-School Education Kindergarten 1 and 2 , Primary Education Grade 1-6 Junior High Education Grade 7-10, Senior High School Education includes various programs which is Humanities and Social Science Strand (HUMSS) , Science Technology engineering and Mathematics Strand (STEM) , General Academic Strand (GAS) , and program inside Technical-Vocational Track (TVL) are Wellness massage NCII, Bread and Pastry NCII, Cookery NCII. And College Education and its program are Bachelor of Elementary Education (BEEd) Bachelor of Secondary Educations (BSEd) and it has two major, English and Math. Bachelor of Arts in English Language, Bachelor of Science of Midwifery and Health Care NCII. North Davao Colleges, Inc and its programs are recognized by the Department of Education (DepEd) The Comission of Higher Education (CHED) and the Technical Education and skills Develop Authority (TESDA).

Population and Sample

Direct sampling method was used in the selection of respondents. Subjects involved 5 senior high school students from North Davao Colleges, Inc. The survey commenced in the first semester of the school year 2024-2025. The selection was based on direct selection, grade level diversity, subject area relevance, voluntary participation, and informed consent. From the 5 selected senior high school students, they will provide insights into the effectiveness of teacher modeling of grammar usage on their learning outcomes. According to Bdour and Koury (2015), direct sampling method is somewhat selected based on some judgmental decisions set forth by the researcher who exclude equal opportunity selection and depends more on the intentional selection of items based on criteria which would relate less or more with sample representativeness of the population.

Data Collection and Analysis

Following the research proposal's approval, the data collection process commenced with a formal request for permission. An official letter was submitted to the Office of the Dean of College, sought authorization to conduct the study among North Davao Colleges' student body. Upon securing approval, this letter served as an endorsement, facilitating the researcher's access to conduct in-depth interviews and focus group discussions with the designated study participants.

Data were meticulously gathered through audio recordings and detailed field notes. Subsequently, the recorded interviews were transcribed using appropriate software to ensure an accurate and complete record of the collected information. Thematic analysis was employed to systematically identify recurring patterns and overarching themes within the transcribed data.

The meticulously analyzed and interpreted results directly addressed the study's stated purpose. The researcher then provided insightful interpretations and practical recommendations targeted towards various stakeholders, including teachers, students, school administrators, parents, and future researchers in the field.

Ethical Considerations

Voluntary Participation

Researchers ensure that participants voluntarily choose to take part in studies without any pressure or undue influence. By offering detailed information about the study's purpose, procedures, and potential risks, individuals can make informed decisions about their participation. Consent forms highlight the voluntary aspect of involvement and allow participants to withdraw without facing any negative consequences. Researchers are responsible for respecting participants' choices and ensuring their well-being throughout the research process.

Anonymity and Confidentiality

Confidentiality and participant privacy are given top priority by researchers. They guarantee that participant responses and identities are kept private and confidential. Participants' anonymity is preserved to protect their privacy by the inability to link the collected data to specific individuals. Only authorized study participants are permitted access to sensitive information thanks to confidentiality procedures. Participants are guaranteed that their information will be treated with the highest confidentiality and won't be shared or published without their express permission. Respecting participants' rights while maintaining anonymity and secrecy also fosters confidence and encourages candid and transparent engagement in research projects.

Honesty and Transparency

Honest participation is essential for this research. We highly value transparency, encouraging participants to answer questions to the best of their ability. Rest assured that all responses will be kept confidential, and the results will be reported in a manner that protects participants' privacy.

Data Security

We will protect any information shared for this study. Data is stored with security protocols in place, and it will never be disclosed to other parties outside the research team. Participants can choose to either anonymize and destroy the data completely or erase any details that could be used to identify them once the study is over. The anonymity of participants is guaranteed, and participation is genuinely valuable.

Manipulation

Researchers avoid changing data or findings to support their theories or intended conclusions because doing so compromises the study's validity and dependability. Complete disclosure of all research procedures, including any alterations carried out, is necessary to guarantee the validity of the results. They put the autonomy and well-being of everyone concerned first. Maintaining ethical standards and preventing the exploitation of manipulation techniques for personal or professional advantage are made easier by routine peer review and monitoring of research methodologies.

CHAPTER 3

RESULTS AND DISCUSSIONS

The data obtained from the respondents on TEACHER MODELING OF GRAMMAR USAGE TOWARDS STUDENT LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT is presented, analyzed and discussed in this chapter. The interpretations and discussions are based on statements of the problem previously stated.

Table 1. The formulated themes and central ideas based on Research Question (1. How do students perceive teachers who model grammatical structures in their spoken and written communication?)

Emergent Themes	Central Ideas	Supporting Quotes from the Respondents
Supportive Teaching Methods	Teachers' supportive approaches, including simplification and the use of examples, foster better understanding and retention among students.	"What I observed about the teacher while teaching grammatical structures is that she teaches well because it's really understandable."
Impact of Teaching Methods	Respondents described their teachers' teaching styles as organized, clear, and impactful. The structured delivery of lessons facilitated better comprehension. Compared to previous years, students noted improvement in the quality of instruction, highlighting the shift from merely assigning activities to interactive and intentional teaching.	For me, it has a huge impact because I have learned something, especially on how to construct a sentence and how to use them effectively.

Teacher Effectiveness	Teachers are observed to effectively teach grammatical structures, ensuring clarity, understanding, and relatability through examples.	There was definitely improvement in my language skills, especially in pronunciation, because I really remember it.
-----------------------	--	--

From the data collected, three (3) themes emerged: (1) Supportive Teaching Methods, (2) Impact of Teaching Methods and (3) Teacher Effectiveness.

Supportive Teaching Methods

Participants in this study emphasized the importance of supportive teaching methods, such as simplification and the use of examples, in fostering better understanding and retention of concepts. They highlighted how these strategies create a more accessible and engaging learning environment, aiding their academic success.

In a study by Wyatt-Smith et al. (2024), structured analysis methods were shown to "focus teachers' attention on specific areas for improvement within student work, enabling the formulation of clear next-step teaching strategies." This approach aligns with supportive methods, ensuring that teaching interventions are both targeted and effective. Moreover, the use of exemplars and cognitive commentaries helps "make visible what standards look like within student work samples," providing both students and teachers with concrete examples to guide learning (Wyatt-Smith et al., 2024).

These findings affirm that supportive teaching practices not only enhance comprehension but also promote fair and consistent assessment, further contributing to an effective educational experience.

Impact of Teaching Methods

The participants emphasized the influence of teaching methods on their learning experiences. They highlighted how different approaches, such as interactive and structured teaching, enhance their understanding of lessons and improve academic performance. This underscores the importance of adopting effective teaching methods to cater to diverse learning needs.

In a study by Hafeez (2021), the effectiveness of multiple teaching methods, including lecture, discussion, inquiry, and demonstration, was analyzed. The findings revealed that demonstration teaching methods ranked highest in improving students' academic achievements and critical thinking skills, while the lecture method ranked the lowest. This demonstrates how varied instructional strategies can significantly impact learning outcomes.

Moreover, Hafeez (2021) asserts that "a trained and skillful teacher has more ability to teach the students and implement various teaching methods successfully." This shows how proper training enables educators to adapt their methods to students' needs, resulting in higher academic achievements and increased interest in learning.

Teacher Effectiveness

Participants observed that teacher effectiveness in modeling grammar plays a pivotal role in their language development. Effective modeling not only ensures clarity and comprehension of grammatical rules but also encourages students to relate these rules to real-life communication scenarios, thereby enhancing their language proficiency.

Behera et al. (2024) highlighted the importance of planned-incidental grammar teaching integrated with the 5E Model, which includes stages such as explanation and elaboration to ensure students grasp grammatical concepts through clear and contextual examples. This approach emphasizes the teacher's role in identifying and seamlessly incorporating grammar instruction into textbook lessons, demonstrating how grammar can be applied in practical contexts.

Furthermore, the study asserts that "the teacher's ability to highlight grammar rules and structures occurring in textbook chapters during instruction" significantly improves students' understanding and application of grammar (Behera et al., 2024). This indicates that effective teacher modeling combines explicit rule explanations with relatable examples, fostering a supportive learning environment for grammar acquisition.

Thus, teacher effectiveness in modeling grammar usage not only facilitates academic success but also nurtures students' confidence in using language skills in everyday situations.

Table 2. The formulated themes and central ideas based on Research Question (2. From your perspective as a student, how important is it for teachers to model correct grammatical usage towards student language development? In Teacher modeling of grammar usage towards Student language development.

Emergent Themes	Central Ideas	Supporting Quotes from the Respondents
Significance of Teacher Modeling in Grammar Instruction	Teachers serve as crucial models for correct grammar usage, which helps students build a solid foundation in language development and proficiency.	"The role of the teacher in teaching grammatical structure is really important for students to understand what each word means and how to comprehend them."
Application of Grammar Skills Across Contexts	Grammar instruction is essential not only for English classes but also for other subjects and real-life situations, where clear and correct communication is necessary.	"I use it in other subjects because it's needed, especially in MAPEH, where you need to write essays about music. You can also use it in other subjects and outside of school." "Nowadays, there are a lot of foreigners, so with what the teacher taught me about grammatical structure, we already know how to communicate with them."
Feedback and Error Correction as Learning Tools	Teachers' focus on identifying and correcting students' grammatical errors reinforces their understanding and improves language proficiency.	"The teacher focuses on grammar and looks for our mistakes, which helps us improve." "She really makes an effort to help students understand. Then she gives activities."

From the data collected, three (3) themes emerged: (1) Significance of Teacher Modeling in Grammar Instruction, (2) Application of Grammar Skills Across Contexts, and (3) Feedback and Error Correction as Learning Tools.

Significance of Teacher Modeling in Grammar Instruction

The participants emphasized the critical role of teacher modeling in grammar instruction, noting how it helps them understand grammatical structures and apply them in their communication. This highlights the importance of teachers as role models in fostering language development and proficiency among students.

In the study conducted by Restrepo Castaño (2024), task-based learning was shown to significantly improve students' comprehension and use of grammatical structures. The study found that students engaged in contextualized grammar tasks, such as summarizing and inferencing, which helped them grasp linguistic rules while enhancing their motivation to learn. Similarly, Krashen (1981) argues that grammar instruction, when delivered in meaningful contexts, fosters language acquisition by ensuring that students see grammar as a tool for communication rather than as isolated rules.

Moreover, Ellis (2003) highlights that integrating grammar into reading and writing tasks encourages students to think critically about language usage and promotes long-term retention of language structures. This approach underscores the teacher's role in demonstrating how grammar is applied practically, contributing to a supportive and engaging learning environment.

Thus, teacher modeling in grammar instruction not only strengthens students' understanding of language rules but also equips them with the skills necessary for effective communication in academic and real-world settings.

Application of Grammar Skills across Contexts

Participants highlighted the importance of grammar instruction not only in English classes but also in other academic subjects and real-life situations. This reflects how grammar serves as a foundation for clear and effective communication across diverse contexts.

In the study conducted by Eriksen (2024), grammar tasks in EFL learning materials emphasized contextualized learning that connects grammar rules to real-world applications. The research highlights that grammar is not just about mastering rules but about enabling learners to use language meaningfully in academic and everyday interactions. Similarly, Swain (1998) emphasizes the significance of tasks that promote both reflection and practical application of grammar, arguing that communicative grammar instruction fosters deeper understanding and language proficiency.

Furthermore, Eshmurodova (2024) underscores the role of integrating real-life examples in grammar teaching, which helps students apply grammatical knowledge in diverse situations, such as writing essays in various subjects or communicating effectively with individuals from different cultural backgrounds. As one participant noted, "With what the teacher taught me about grammatical structure, we already know how to communicate with them [foreigners]."

Thus, grammar instruction is not confined to language learning but extends its impact to academic success and meaningful communication in real-world scenarios.

Feedback and Error Correction as Learning Tools

Participants highlighted how teachers' focus on identifying and correcting grammatical errors not only improved their understanding but also enhanced their confidence in using the language effectively. This underscores the significance of feedback as a vital learning tool in language instruction.

In the study by Ullah et al. (2023), grammar instruction and error correction were found to be central to learners' beliefs about language learning. The research demonstrated that students respond positively to varied and engaging error correction techniques, which help them internalize grammatical structures more effectively. The study emphasized that, to sustain students' interest and motivation, teachers should adapt their error correction strategies to be more interactive and student-centered.

Similarly, Andrian (2023) explored the use of error correction within communicative language teaching environments. The findings revealed that integrating error feedback into meaningful communication tasks allows students to practice grammar in authentic contexts. One participant shared, "The teacher focuses on grammar and looks for our mistakes, which helps us improve," while another noted, "She really makes an effort to help students understand. Then she gives activities."

Thus, feedback and error correction play a pivotal role in reinforcing students' grammatical knowledge and building their language proficiency, particularly when employed within interactive and contextualized instructional frameworks.

Table 3. The formulated themes and central ideas based on (3. Reflecting on your educational experiences, do you believe that teachers who effectively model correct grammatical usage contribute to a supportive learning environment for language development?) in Teacher modeling of grammar usage towards Student Language Development.

Emergent Themes	Central Ideas	Supporting Quotes from the Respondents
Impact of Creative Teaching Methods on Grammar Learning	Interactive and creative teaching strategies, such as quizzes, visual activities, and rewards, effectively engage students and enhance their grammatical understanding.	“Like more creative ways, such as having activities that are related to the topic.” “Those who can answer could also receive a small reward to encourage them to learn the words.”
The Long-Term Value of Grammar Proficiency	Grammatical competence prepares students for broader opportunities, including interviews and communication in global contexts, highlighting its relevance beyond academics.	“Yes, because once you understand grammar fully, you can go to other countries since English is the universal language.”
Enhanced Learning Through Student Engagement	Encouraging students to actively participate in lessons, express themselves, and practice speaking fosters better comprehension and application of grammar rules.	“Our teacher lets the students speak more and focuses on writing and grammar. She also encourages us to express ourselves, which helps us learn better.”

From the data collected, three (3) themes emerged: (1) Impact of Creative Teaching Methods on Grammar Learning, (2) The Long-Term Value of Grammar Proficiency, and (3) Enhanced Learning Through Student Engagement.

Impact of Creative Teaching Methods on Grammar Learning

Participants emphasized how creative teaching strategies, such as storytelling and rewards, significantly enhance their engagement and understanding of grammatical concepts. These methods demonstrate how innovative approaches can make grammar learning enjoyable and effective.

In the study conducted by Le Huu Thang and Vu Minh Hue (2024), storytelling techniques were shown to foster meaningful interactions with grammar. The study highlighted that storytelling engages students by providing contextualized exposure to grammar rules within narratives. This approach not only improves grammatical understanding but also motivates learners by immersing them in authentic language use. Similarly, Davies (2007) argues that narrative-based activities encourage critical thinking and deeper engagement, which are essential for effective language learning.

Furthermore, Duisenova and Zhorabekova (2024) found that rewards in digital game-based learning significantly boosted student motivation and academic performance in language learning. By incorporating elements such as points and badges, students were motivated to persist in learning tasks, enhancing both their engagement and achievement. The researchers noted, "Students showed higher levels of motivation and better academic outcomes when rewards were aligned with their learning goals."

Thus, integrating storytelling and rewards into grammar instruction illustrates the potential of creative teaching methods to foster an engaging and supportive learning environment that enhances grammatical proficiency.

The Long-Term Value of Grammar Proficiency

Participants highlighted the importance of grammar proficiency in preparing students for opportunities beyond academics, including interviews and global communication. This underscores grammar's essential role in equipping individuals for international and professional success.

In the study conducted by Ashraf et al. (2024), grammar proficiency was identified as a crucial factor for success in the IELTS writing test, a globally recognized benchmark for English language competence. The research emphasizes that achieving high proficiency in grammar enables individuals to construct coherent arguments, which is essential for academic and professional communication. This aligns with respondents' observations, such as, "Yes, because once you understand grammar fully, you can go to other countries since English is the universal language." Similarly, Khan (2020) highlights the role of grammar mastery in building confidence for international opportunities and interviews, where clear and accurate communication is paramount.

Furthermore, Suphanut (2024) discusses how task-based learning (TBL) and graphic organizers enhance grammar skills by providing learners with structured frameworks for applying grammar rules in meaningful contexts. These methods prepare students not only for academic success but also for real-world scenarios, ensuring they can effectively communicate in diverse professional and cultural settings.

Thus, grammar proficiency extends beyond academic achievement, opening doors to global opportunities and facilitating meaningful interactions in a connected world.

Enhanced Learning Through Student Engagement

The participants highlight the role of active participation, collaborative learning, and opportunities for self-expression in improving their grammar and overall language skills. These practices contribute to deeper engagement and comprehension, fostering a more dynamic and interactive learning environment.

In a study by Fredricks (2004), cited in Khalid Albahouth's thesis (2024), engagement is described as a multidimensional construct encompassing behavioral, emotional, and cognitive aspects. Fredricks emphasizes that deliberate pedagogical interventions, such as interactive activities, play a critical role in enhancing engagement and learning outcomes. Similarly, Shernoff (2013) underscores the importance of creating responsive learning environments to support student engagement and active participation in educational settings.

Moreover, Albahouth (2024) highlights that flipped teaching approaches, combined with collaborative tasks, significantly enhance learner involvement, particularly in grammar lessons. This method allows students to actively participate, work together, and express themselves while reinforcing their understanding of grammatical rules. He states that "interactive tasks promote behavioral, emotional, and cognitive engagement, making students more active participants in their learning process."

These findings demonstrate the value of engaging students through innovative teaching strategies that prioritize interaction and participation over traditional methods. By fostering an environment of active learning, teachers help students achieve greater comprehension and application of language concepts.

CHAPTER 4

SUMMARY, CONCLUSION, AND RECOMMENDATION

This portion of the study presents the summary, conclusions, and recommendations.

Summary

The investigation attempted to determine the teacher modelling of grammar usage towards student language during the academic year 2024-2025.

To achieve such results, answers to following questions were sought.

1. How do students perceive teachers who model grammatical structures in their spoken and written communication?

1.1 Can you describe an experience where you observed a teacher modeling grammatical structures in their spoken or written communication?

1.2 How did this experience impact your perception of the teacher's effectiveness in conveying language skills?

2. From your perspective as a student, how important is it for teachers to model correct grammatical usage towards student language development?

2.1 How do you perceive the role of teachers in modeling correct grammatical usage for your language development?

2.2 How does a teacher's ability to model correct grammatical usage influence your own language development and proficiency?

3. Reflecting on your educational experiences, do you believe that teachers who effectively model correct grammatical usage contribute to a supportive learning environment for language development?

3.1 What specific strategies or methods do you believe teachers can employ to effectively model correct grammatical usage towards language development?

3.2 Reflecting on your interactions with teachers who effectively model correct grammatical usage, how do you think this impacted the overall learning environment for language development?

The researcher utilized the qualitative method of research using phenomenological approach:

1. Supportive Teaching Methods. Teachers' supportive approaches, including simplification and the use of examples, foster better understanding and retention among students.
2. Impact of Teaching Methods. Respondents described their teachers' teaching styles as organized, clear, and impactful. The structured delivery of lessons facilitated better comprehension. Compared to previous years, students noted improvement in the quality of instruction, highlighting the shift from merely assigning activities to interactive and intentional teaching.
3. Teacher Effectiveness. Teachers are observed to effectively teach grammatical structures, ensuring clarity, understanding, and relatability through examples.

4. Significance of Teacher Modeling in Grammar Instruction. Teachers serve as crucial models for correct grammar usage, which helps students build a solid foundation in language development and proficiency.
5. Application of Grammar Skills Across Contexts. Grammar instruction is essential not only for English classes but also for other subjects and real-life situations, where clear and correct communication is necessary.
6. Feedback and Error Correction as Learning Tools. Teachers' focuses on identifying and correcting students' grammatical errors reinforces their understanding and improves language proficiency.
7. Impact of Creative Teaching Methods on Grammar Learning. Interactive and creative teaching strategies, such as quizzes, visual activities, and rewards, effectively engage students and enhance their grammatical understanding.
8. The Long-Term Value of Grammar Proficiency. Grammatical competence prepares students for broader opportunities, including interviews and communication in global contexts, highlighting its relevance beyond academics.
9. Enhanced Learning Through Student Engagement. Encouraging students to actively participate in lessons, express themselves, and practice speaking fosters better comprehension and application of grammar rules.

Conclusions

Based on the disclosed summary, the following conclusions were drawn:

1. Effective teaching strategies are crucial for student success, and research consistently highlights the importance of various pedagogical approaches. Among these, teacher modeling stands out as a powerful technique with a significant impact on learning outcomes. This method goes beyond simple demonstration; it actively shapes student understanding and engagement. Research further confirms that teacher modeling significantly enhances student learning by providing clear examples and fostering engagement. Studies by Johnson and Onwuegbuzie (2004) emphasize that modeling improves comprehension and retention through structured and relatable examples.

2. Research on the impact of grammar in teaching and learning highlights the "significance of grammar and its effects on language learning and teaching and on all other aspects of language development," underscoring the necessity for teachers to model correct grammatical usage to enhance student language skills (Loh, J. 2009). Furthermore, a strong grammatical foundation significantly enhances other crucial language skills, such as reading comprehension, writing proficiency, and listening comprehension. A solid understanding of grammar allows students to decode complex sentence structures, identify key ideas, and understand the nuances of language. This interconnectedness underscores the importance of integrating grammar instruction seamlessly into all aspects of language learning.

3. Studies on the impact of model lessons indicate that "model lessons can serve as a viable coaching strategy leading to an increase in the level of expectation some teachers have for their students," suggesting that when teachers model high-quality instructional practices, it positively influences their perceptions and effectiveness (Pulsen 2021). The increased teacher expectations resulting from model lessons translate directly into enhanced student learning outcomes. When teachers observe and internalize high-quality instructional practices, they are better equipped to create engaging and effective learning experiences for their students. This, in turn, leads to improved student engagement, comprehension, and overall academic achievement

Recommendations

Gleaned from the disclosed summary of findings and drawn conclusions, the following recommendations are offered:

Teachers. This study will help them reinforce an accurate modeling grammar usage strategy for the students. Additionally, this study can inform teachers about the impact of their language use on student learning, encouraging continuous professional growth and development in language instruction techniques.

Students. This study will help them understand the importance of grammar usage. They may develop further by applying the importance of grammar on their own. To communicate eloquently, express ideas with clarity, and engage in various academic and professional settings.

School Heads. This study will help them gain an insight from the study that can guide school leaders in developing and refining language arts curricula that emphasize grammar.

Parents. This study will help them understand the importance proper grammar use in daily conversationa and can encourage parents to reinforce good language habits at home.

Future Researchers. The results of this study will add to the growing body of knowledge about the benefits of modeling grammar usage. It allows them to go further into the research findings and examine the relationship teaching modeling of grammar and student language in the most accurate detail possible.

Interviewer:

(English) Is that okay? Here are your guide questions; if you want to read, there's a guide. Alright, I've already introduced this, right? Our research title is 'Teacher Modeling of Grammar Usage Towards Students' Learning.' So, I'm Ate Nicole. Sorry for going back to that. We have a consent and letter signed by your principal and our dean, so this approves that we will interview you. We have a paper for you to sign to show that you agreed to be interviewed.

(Bisaya) Okay ra? Dara imong guide questions gang, kanang ug gusto ka mag basa naa Kay Kuan guide. Okay gi introduce naman nako ni diba? Na ang Amoang title sa research is teacher modelling of grammar usage towards students learning, so ako si ate Nicole gang, sorry gang na balik tikag Kuan.. so naa lang mi consent and letter nga gi pirmahan sa inyong principal og saamong dean, so approve nani nga mag interview mi sa inyoha, naa mi gipa pirmahan sainyoha nga paper, para Mao ni among ipakita nga ni sugot mo na e interview mo, gang ha?

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Oo.

Interviewer:

(English) Just relax, okay? Because I find the questions a bit challenging too, since you're in grade 10. Alright? So, for the first question, can you describe an experience where you observed a teacher modeling grammatical structures in spoken or written communication? You have an English subject, right?

(Bisaya) Chill lang gang hehe Kay bisag ako malisdan pudko sa questions gang

Kay grade-10 paman gud pud mo.. okay? Sige. Sa first question, can you describe an experience where you observe a teacher, a teacher modelling grammatical structures and spoken or written communication, so diba sa inyoha, grade 10, naa man moy English subject diba?

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) Opo.

Interviewer:

(English) So, does the teacher teach grammatical structures?

(Bisaya) So si teacher ba Naga tudlo og grammatical structures?

Respondent:

(English) Yes, Si. Opo

(Bisaya) Yes. si. opo,

Interviewer:

(English) What are the grammatical structures included there? Like verbs, adverbs, and something general about the English subject. So, can you describe an experience where you observed a teacher modeling grammatical structures in their written or spoken communication? Did you notice anything? Can you describe an experience, like when a teacher teaches about grammatical structures? Have you experienced that? Oh, wait a moment; I'm getting confused. Can you describe an experience? Oh, sorry, let's just relax; we're both a bit nervous. Okay, for the first question, can you describe your experience when the teacher teaches about grammatical structures? What can you say about it while she is teaching you grammatical structures like verbs, pronouns, nouns? What was your experience?

(Bisaya) Unsa Gani ang mga grammatical structures nga naka paluob didto?, mga verb..mga verb mga adverb og mga something, generalization sa ano mga English subject.. oo.. sa imoha, can you describe an experience where you observe teacher modelling grammatical structures, and their written or spoken communication, so, napansin ba nimo..ah ..uhm can you describe an experience, like.. kanang kuntahay magtudlo si.. ma'am about sa grammatical teacher, ay grammatical structures.. about sa, grammatical structure sa spoken or sa written communication na, naka experience ba ka, or na. Ay wait lang gang.. wait lang gang nag libog nako gang.. wait lang, can you describe an experience.. ay.. sorry gang chill lang gang parehas ta nakulbaan.. huhhh, okay sa number 1 questions gang is diria na describe ba nimo imong experience Pag mag tud.. Pag mag tudlo si teacher about sa grammatical structures? Unsa imong ma describe saiyaha habang Naga tudlo siya og grammatical structure saiyoha like, verb, pronoun, noun, unsa imong ma eperience?

Respondent:

(English) Oh, you know, when ma'am teaches, she makes sure that everyone really understands and listens to what she is teaching

(Bisaya) Ah ano kanang basta si ma'am mag tudlo, na make sure gyud Niya nga tanan gyud makasabot, maminaw saiyahang mga gipang.. ano.. iyang gipang tudlo.

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, so for number 2, how did this experience impact your perception of the teacher's effectiveness in teaching language skills? Did you notice that the teacher's way of teaching had an impact on you, or did it enter your mind how effective the teacher was in teaching language skills? Did ma'am's teaching improve your language skills, especially regarding grammatical structures?

(Bisaya) Okay. unya. So sa number 2 ta how this, how did this experience impact your perception of the teachers effectiveness in containing language skills, so Katong.. napansin nimo nga experience Kay teacher nga mag tudlo, naa ba Kay impact or na sulod ba saimong hunahuna ang Pag teacher ni.. ang Pag tudlo ni teacher sa effective.. effectiveness of containing language skills na, like na.. na.. na kuan ba. Na improve ba imohang language skills pagtudlo ni ma'am? About sa lang.. ah.. grammatical structures?

Respondent:

(English) Yes, my language skills improved because before, I only knew a little English, but now I can speak English a bit.

(Bisaya) Yes po na improve akoang mga kaning akong language skills, Kay sa. sauna man Kay I only.. Gamay lang akong mahibal an nga english, karon kay. kabal.. kabalo nako gamay mo storya og english.

Interviewer:

(English) Ah, okay. So the teacher really helped a lot in teaching grammatical structures, right?

(Bisaya) Ahh. okay.. so dako gyud tabang si teacher no sa Pag tudlo sa grammatical structure?

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Yes po.

Interviewer:

(English) in number 2.1, how do you perceive the role of teachers in modelling grammatical usage for language development? And how did you apply it? Because your teacher is teaching, did you learn something right?

(Bisaya) Sa number 2.1 na ta gang, how do you perceive the role of teachers in modelling grammatical usage for language development, giunsa nimo siya Pag. Pag apply saimohang, diba nag tudlo si teacher, kanang naka tuon mangyud ka diba?

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Opo.

Interviewer:

(English) Oh, how do you apply it in your daily life? Because we don't just use language in English; we also use it in math, science, and other subjects, right?

(Bisaya) Oh, giunsa nimo siya pag apply saimohang daily like.. saimohang daily diba Dili lang manjud sa English ta mag gamit og language. No Pati sa math, science.. diba nag gamit tag mga language.

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) Opo.

Interviewer:

(English) So, how did you apply what ma'am discussed with you about the structure of grammar?

(Bisaya) "So giunsa nimo siya Pag adopt sa.. sa katong gi discuss ni ma'am sainyoha about sa structure of grammar?"

Respondent:

(English) I use it in other subjects because it's needed, especially in MAPEH, where you need to write essays about music. You can also use it in other subjects and outside of school.

(Bisaya) Uhm, ako siyang ginagamit sa uban nga subject kay. Like needed manpud nag uban, specially like mga mapeh or something nga, kailangan ka magbuhat ug mga essay about mga music tapos magamit pud nimo ni sa uban ug sa gawas sa school.

Interviewer:

(English) okay, now we p.roceed on the question 2.2

(Bisaya) Sa 2.2 na ta gang.

Respondent:

(English) Okay

(Bisaya) Opo

Interviewer:

(English) How has the teacher's ability to model correct grammatical usage influenced language development and proficiency? So, the teacher teaches...

(Bisaya) How teachers ability to model correct grammatical usage influenced on language development and profi.. proficiency.. so diba si teacher Naga tudlo..

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Yes po.

Interviewer:

(English) "Teachers are skilled at teaching the structure of grammar, right?"

(Bisaya) Hawud man si teacher mag tudlo ug structure of grammar no?

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Opo

Interviewer:

(English) "Because she wouldn't be a good teacher if she wasn't skilled at teaching, right?"

(Bisaya) Kay dili man, dili man siya ma maistra if dili siya hawd mo tudlo diba?

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Opo

Interviewer:

(English) Especially in English. So what have you noticed about ma'am's abilities? What abilities or strategies have you noticed in your teacher that help you learn what she teaches?

(Bisaya) "Specially sa English. So unsa imong na pansin nga ability ni ma'am, kanang unsa imong na pansin nga.. nga ability or strategy saimong maistra para makuha or ma.. matun-an gyud ninyo."

kanang matun-an ninyo iyang gipang tudlo?

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Opo.

Interviewer:

(English) "What did you notice or observe about her?"

(Bisaya) Unsa imong na, na ano Saiya napansin or na observe? Hmm na observe nimo.

Respondent:

(English) "What I observed about ma'am is that she really makes sure to help those who don't know much English and those who don't understand English very well."

(Bisaya) Ang na observe nako Kay ma'am kay iya gyud tong gina sigurado tong mga dili pa kaayo makabalo mo English, og mga dili kaayo kasabot sa English and.

Interviewer:

(English) "Oh, okay, so let's move on to 3.1."

(Bisaya) Oh, okay so sa 3.1 na ta gang.

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Opo.

Interviewer:

(English) "Almost done! Okay, what specific strategies or methods do you believe teachers can use to effectively model grammatical usage for language development? So, similar to the question in 2.2, what strategies did you notice ma'am using to get the students to listen and understand what she teaches?"

(Bisaya) Hapit nagyud gang, hapit nagyud. okay

what's specific strategies or methods do you believe teachers can employ effectively model for grammatical usage towards language development. So same sa question sa 2.2 gang. Unsa diay. Unsa imong napansin nga strategy ni ma'am.. para maminaw og makuha sa mga studyante ang iyang gi tudlo?

Respondent:

(English) "Ma'am's strategy is that if she writes something on the board and isn't finished yet, she stops us and makes sure our attention is on her before she starts again, so we can all learn."

(Bisaya) Ang strategy ni ma'am kay kung write siyag something in the board, unya wala pa nahuman. Iya ming gipa stop tapos, dapat iya ming. Dili siya mag start until nga ang. Ang attention Kay naa saiyaha, so kami tanan maka learn.

Interviewer:

(English) Okay. Okay last question.

(Bisaya) Okay. Okay last question.

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Opo.

Interviewer:

(English) Yay! Hehe, reflecting on your interactions with the teacher who effectively models correct grammatical usage, how do you think this impacted the overall learning environment for language development? So, it's not just that ma'am teaches; you also take quizzes and write essays with her to find out if you understand.

(Bisaya) “Yehey hehe okay, reflecting on your interactions with teacher to effectively model correct grammatical usage, how do you think this impacted the overall learning environment for language development? So. diba kamo ni ma'am, dili lang mangyud kay si ma'am mo tudlo lang, diba kamo nagapa quiz mo naga buhat mo ni ma'am ug essay, para mahibal an kasabot ba mo. “

Respondent:

(English) Yes

(Bisaya) Opo.

Interviewer:

(English) "And have you applied what she taught you? So for you, did her teaching about the structure of grammar help a lot? Even outside of school? Did it help you a lot?"

(Bisaya) Ug na apply ba nimo iyahang gi tudlo sainyo, so para Saimoha, kanang, dako ba ni siyag tabang ang Pag tudlo ni ma'am? About sa structure of grammar? Pati sa gawas sa school? Dako ba siyag tabang?

Respondent:

(English) "Yes, because once you understand grammar fully, you can go to other countries since English is the universal language. So it has a big impact if you know grammar. Hayhh. Thank you, we're good now."

(Bisaya) “Yes po kay kung, naa naka. Makabalo naka aning grammar, ma fully understand nimo ni. Then pwede naka Maka adto sa laing bansa kay English, Kay, Mao man ni siya ang universal language. So dako kaayo ni siyag impact kung mabal-an nimo ni siya nga. ano. grammar.”

Interviewer:

(English) Hayhh. Thank you, we're good now.

(Bisaya) “Hayhh. Thank you gang okay na.”

RESPONDENT 3 RECORDED RESPONSES FOR IN-DEPTH INTERVIEW

Interviewer:

(English) We are researchers for our study. I'm Ate Nicole, this is Kuya Judelle, and this is Kuya Ramon. Our study title is 'Teacher Modeling of Grammar Usage Towards Students'

Language.' We also have a letter confirming that we can conduct the study and interview you. Your principal, Sir Rey, has signed it, as well as our dean. So we have the consent form that you need to sign to confirm that you agree to be interviewed. You are Julius Calahuya, right? Please sign here. Do you want to hold the questions or not?

(Bisaya) “Mga researcher mi sa amoang research gang. Ako si ate Nicole, siya si kuya Judelle, ug siaya si kuya Ramon. Ahm amoang title sa study gang is teacher modelling of grammar usage towards students language so naa napud mi ahm letter pamatuod na okay nami mo conduct ug study ug mo interview sa inyuha. Naka sign na inyuhang principal which is si sir Rey ug ang amoang dean pud nka sign na. So we have here the consent na kaylangan nimo sya permahan para pamatuod na nisugot ka na iinterview ka namo. Ikaw si Juilius Calahuya right? Palihug kog perma gang. So gusto ka gunitan ang question or dili na?”

Respondent:

(English) nope.

(Bisaya) “Dili na po.”

Interviewer:

(English) This is in Bisaya, so I'll also say it in Bisaya. Let's start with 1.1, I'll say it in Bisaya so you can understand it right away. In your English class, you have English as a subject, right? Does the teacher teach grammatical structures like nouns, verbs, and pronouns?

(Bisaya) “Bisaya raman na, kay ibisaya rapud nako. Sa 1.1 ta gang, ibisaya ra nako sa imoha diritso para ma sabtan ra dayun. Diba sa inyuhang English diri kay naa man moy English subject? Si teacher naga tudlo ug grammatical structure sa inyuha? Like kanang mga Noun, Verb, Pronoun.”

Respondent:

(English) yes, there is.

(Bisaya) “Oo naa.”

Interviewer:

(English) "Ahm, regarding your experience in the classroom, how would you describe and what did you observe about the teacher's teaching? Like, when the teacher teaches you about grammatical structures, what was your experience and what did you observe about how well the teacher teaches?"

(Bisaya) “ahm, kana experience nimo sa classroom ahm unsaon nimo pag describe ug unsa imohang na observe sa pag tudlo ni teacher sa inyuha, kanang kuntahay nag tudlo si techer sa inyuha about sa grammatical structure, unsa imoahang na experience na observe kanang hawd mo tudlo si teacher?”

Respondent

(English) Is any language?

(Bisaya) “Any language po?”

Interviewer:

(English) Yes, even if its bisaya.

(Bisaya) “Oo, Pwedi ra bisaya.”

Respondent:

(English) Yes, the more ma'am teaches, the more understanding she has. She doesn't make it hard for us; she really gives examples so that students can understand better.

(Bisaya) “ahm, Yes po. The more na mag teach si maam kay kanang like understanding gani kayo si ma'am dili sya kayo kanang like kining ahm kanang ahm dili lisud mag tudlo iyaha gyud syang, kanang naga give gyud syag example para na ma more na ma sabtan sa student.”

Interviewer:

(English) Sa 1.2 ta. Sa imong experience sa pag tudlo ni teacher, unsa man ang impact niini sa imoha? Like, ingon ka nga hawd mo tudlo si teacher sa inyoha, naka tuon ba ka sa iyang mga gipang tudlo, sama sa grammatical structures?

(Bisaya) “Sa 1.2 ta gang. Sa kanang experience nimo sa pag tudlo ni teacher unsany impact sa imoaha like kanang ingon ka nga hawd mo tudlo si teacher sa inyuha, ahm naka tuon baka sa iyahang mga gipang tudlo sa inyu like about sa grammatical structure?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po”

Interviewer:

(English) Why do you say that you've learned?

(Bisaya) “Nganong naka ingon ka nga naka tuon ka?”

Respondent:

(English) Ahm, I think it's because if you really want to learn something, you have to study it or do something about it. Sooner or later, you'll use it.

(Bisaya) “Ahm, I think kanang like kanang gusto gyud nimo sya maton an imoha gyud dapat syang buhaton like mag study ka or something ana. Sooner or later like magamit man gud nimo sya.”

Interviewer:

(English) anything right?

(Bisaya) “Bisag asa diba?”

Respondent:

(English) yes

(Bisaya) “Opo.”

Interviewer:

(English) Nowadays, there are a lot of foreigners, so with what the teacher taught me about grammatical structure, we already know how to communicate with them. Now, let's move on to 2.1. I need your perception on this question. For you, how important is the role of a teacher in teaching correct grammatical structure? What can you say, should the teacher be skilled for the students to learn or understand?

(Bisaya) “kay kanang Karon kay daghanan nman foreigner so sa mga gipang tudlo ni teacher sa akua about sa grammatical structure kabalo nata makig communicate sa in anang foreigner. Okay sa 2.1 nata gang. Need nako imong perception about this question ha. Para sa imo unsa ka importante ang role sa isa ka teacher sa pag tudlo sa correct grammar structure like, unsa ka importante like dapat ba kanang hawd si teacher para maka balo ang student or maka understand.”

Respondent:

(English) I think it depends. Actually, the teacher also learns from the students. So I think it just depends because the teacher doesn't have to know everything; they just need to make an effort to learn as well.

(Bisaya) “ I think po, depende like actually that si teacher naga learn pud sya gkan sa student po. So I think kanang depende lang po kay dili man pud gud ug si teacher na alam niya tanan pero gina buhat nila na alamon gyud nila po.”

Interviewer:

(English) So, teachers are really important in our lives, right?

(Bisaya) “So importante gyud ang mga teacher no sa atong life?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, let's move on to 2.2. In the way the teacher taught you grammar structure, do you think the teacher delivered it well? Did you ever think, 'Wow, the teacher teaches so well, I really understood and was able to apply it in my life.

(Bisaya) “Okay sa 2.2 nata gang. Sa pagtudlo ni teacher sa inyuha sa grammar structure para sa imo na dilever ba ni teacher ug tarong sa inyo like naka ingon baka nga “hala nindota mo tudlo ni teacher oy kay naka sabot gyud ko unya na adopt gyud nako sa akong life.”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po.”

Interviewer:

(English) I'll repeat the question. When the teacher taught you grammar structure, do you think the teacher delivered it properly to your class? Did you understand what the teacher was teaching about grammar structure? Why do you say that you understood? Were you shy in front of my classmates?

(Bisaya) “Usabon nako ang question? Sa pag tudlo ni teacher sa inyo grammar structure para sa imo na deliver ba ni teacher ug tarong sa inyo? Na like naka sabot baka sa gipang tudlo ni teacher sa inyuha about ssa grammar structure? Naka sabot ka? Nganong naka ingon man ka nga naka sabot ka? Na ulaw ka sa ilaha?”

Respondent:

(English) I was just nervous.

(Bisaya) “Na kulbaan lang ko.”

Interviewer:

(English) Don't be nervous. This isn't something to be shy about.

(Bisaya) “Ayaw lang ka kulba. Dili mani, dili mani maka ulaw.”

Respondent:

(English) Can you repeat that?

(Bisaya) “Pwedi ibalik balik?”

Interviewer:

(English) Ah, okay. In the teacher's instruction on grammar structure like nouns, verbs, and pronouns, do you think the teacher delivered the grammar structures properly?

(Bisaya) “Ah sigi, sa pag tudlo ni teacher sa inyo sa grammar structure like Noun, Verb, Pronoun. Para sa imo na deliver ba ni teacher ug tarong ang mga, ang mga grammar structure?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes, because she really makes an effort to help students understand. Then she gives activities.

(Bisaya) “Oo po, kasi gina way and way po niya para maka understand sa student. Tapos naga hatag syag activity.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, let's move on to 3.1. For you, what other strategies does the teacher need to effectively teach and help you learn, especially regarding correct grammar structure? What else does the teacher need to do to capture your attention so that you listen to her?

(Bisaya) “Okay 3.1 nata gang, Para sa imo unsa pa ang mga strategy na need ni teacher aron effective ang iyang pag tudlo ug maka tuon mo labi na sa correct grammar structure. Unsa pa need ni teacher, unsa pa ang kaylangan buhaton ni teacher para makuha ang inyong attention para maminaw sa iyaha.”

Respondent:

(English) Like, more creative ways, such as having activities that are related to the topic.

(Bisaya) “like kanang more on creative gani na way kanang ginabuhat sa teacher like kanang magpa activities sya pero ano sya sa topic po kanang connected sya sa topic po.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay last wow last na, hehe Okay. Sa kana nga experience sa kanang pag tudlo ni teacher sa imoha about sa grammar structure. Kanang over all ana sa pag tudlo sa inyo, sa imong learning as student naa bay language development like naka ana baka nga, naka ana baka nga ‘hala kanang sa pag tudlo ni teacher kanag kabalo nako mag construct ug sentence or mag essay.

(Bisaya) “Okay last wow last na, hehe Okay. Sa kana nga experience sa kanang pag tudlo ni teacher sa imoha about sa grammar structure. Kanang over all ana sa pag tudlo sa inyo, sa imong learning as student naa bay language development like naka ana baka nga, naka ana baka nga ‘hala kanang sa pag tudlo ni teacher kanag kabalo nako mag construct ug sentence or mag essay.”

Respondent:

(English) Yes, it feels like it enhances your English language skills.

(Bisaya) “Yes, po. Like murag ma enhance imohang English language.”

Interviewer:

(English) So you can really say that your learning has improved, especially in language, because the teacher taught you?

(Bisaya) “So naka ingon gyuyd ka nga na improve imong learning specially sa language gyud kay gi tudloan mo ni teacher?”

Respondent

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, that's all. Thank you!

(Bisaya) “Okay, mao lang to sigi sigi salamat.”

RESPONDENT 4 RECORDED RESPONSES FOR IN-DEPTH INTERVIEW

Interviewer:

(English) Good morning! You are Clent John Arelleno, right?

(Bisaya) “Good morning gang, ikaw si Clent John arelleno right?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes ma’am.

(Bisaya) “Yes, ma’am.”

Interviewer:

(English) So, we are conducting a study here, and our study title is 'Teacher Modeling of Grammar Usage Towards Student Language.' We will start with some questions. I mean, we have a letter signed by your principal and our dean to prove that our title is approved, so we can conduct the study and interview you. Let's start with number 1. In your English subject, does the teacher teach grammatical structure? What is grammatical structure?

(Bisaya) “So mag conduct mi study here ang among title sa study is Teacher modelling of grammar usage towards student language. So, mag start namig question gang. I mean naa mi letter sa, naa name letter na gipermahan sa inyohang principal ug sa amoang kanang dean para naay prove na okay na amoang title, para okay name mag conduct ug study ug interview sa inyo. So start nata sa number 1 gang. Diba inyohang English subject si teacher nag tudlo ug grammatical structure. Unsa manang grammatical structure?”

Respondent:

(English) Grammatical structure refers to the way words are arranged in a sentence to ensure they are understood and convey meaning correctly.

(Bisaya) “ano, ang grammatical structure kay sa pag litok sa is aka word para masabtan ug ma masabot and word unya pag likot.”

Interviewer:

(English) In your classroom experience, how would you describe or what did you observe about the way the teacher taught you?

(Bisaya) “Sa kanang experience nimo sa classroom unsaon nimo pag describe or unsa imong na observe sa pag tudlo ni teacher sa inyo?”

Respondent:

(English) What I observed about the teacher is that she is skilled at pronouncing words and teaching them well, which is why we understand what she means.

(Bisaya) “Ang na observe nako kay maam nga na hawd kaysa mo litok sa is aka word ug hawd tudlo sa is aka word, nganong ma sabtan namo ang gina pasabot ni maam.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, let's move on to 1.2. Regarding your experience in the classroom, what impact did the teacher's instruction have on you? Did you learn anything, and was there any improvement in your language skills?

(Bisaya) “Okay, 1.2 nata gang , kana nga experience nimo sa room or sa classroom,sa pag tudlo ni teacher unsa andg impact sa nimoha like naka tuon baka naay bay improvement imong language skills?”

Respondent:

(English) I think there was definitely improvement in my language skills, especially in pronunciation, because I really remember it. Since the teacher is skilled at pronunciation, I can memorize it well, so there has been improvement in my language.

(Bisaya) “Naay, I think naa gyuy improvement sakong ano, sa akong language sa pag litok kay murag ma remember gyud nako kay ano, kay hawd man gyud si maam ug ano sa pag litok, nganong ma memorize nako, naa gyudy improvement sa akong language.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, let's move on to 2.1. For you, how important is the role of a teacher in teaching grammatical structure?

(Bisaya) “Okay, 2.1 ta gang. Ahm para sa imo unsa ka importante ang role sa isaka teacher sa pag tudlo ug grammatical structure?”

Respondent:

(English) The role of the teacher in teaching grammatical structure is really important for students to understand what each word means and how to comprehend them.

(Bisaya) “Importante gyud ang ano sa pag tudlo sa grammatical structure sa mga studyante para makasabot pud ang ubang studyante nga unsa na sya na word unya unsaon pag sabot ana.”

Interview

(English) Okay, 2.2. In the way the teacher taught you grammar structure, do you think she delivered it well? Did you ever think, 'Wow, the teacher is really good; we learned a lot, and we understood?

(Bisaya) “Okay 2.2. Sa pag tudlo ni teacher sa inyoha sa grammar structure. Para sa imo na deliver ba ni teacher ug tarong sa inyo, like naka ingon baka nga “hala ka hawd ni teacher oy kay naka tuon gyud mi, tapos naka sabot bamo?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes, we understood the way my teacher taught because her teaching style is unique. She explains things in different ways until we really understand, which helps us memorize and comprehend the lessons.”

(Bisaya) “Oh, naka sabot mi sa pag tudlo sa akong maam kay unique man gyud nang sa pag tudlo sa amoa, murag usab usabon niya ba hantud maka sabot gyud mi maong ma memorise pud namo unya maka sabot mi.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, we're almost done. Let's move on to 3.1. For you, what other strategies does the teacher need to make her teaching more effective so that you can learn, especially regarding correct grammar structure?

(Bisaya) “Okay hapit nata. 3.1 nata gang. Para sa imo unsa pa nga strategy na need ni teacher aron effective ang iyang pag tudlo ug naka toun mo labi na sa correct grammar structure?”

Respondent:

(English) What the teacher does is write on the board, but I would recommend a method or strategy where they create visual activities. Then, they could call on each student to answer, and if someone can't answer, they can call another student. They should continue until everyone can pronounce it. Those who can answer could also receive a small reward to encourage them to learn the words.

(Bisaya) “Ang gina buhat man gyud ni maam sa pag tudlo kay murag isulat lng sa ano sa board ang anolang nako e recommend lang nako nga method or strategy na mag himo silag activity na murag visual unya tawag tawagon mi sa isa is aka studyante kung dili sila ka answer tawgon napud ang is aka studyante unya magpa dayun na hantod maka litok sila unya ug kinsa tong maka litok ana hatagan napud pud gamay na reward para ma ano gyud nila kung unsa na word ay kana diay ana ana anohon diay nako basig mogawa s napud na.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, last question. In your experiences with the teacher's instruction about grammar structure usage, overall, in your learning as a student, did you notice any language development? Did you ever think, 'Wow, I'm really good at using pronouns and words now, I know their meanings, and I can also construct sentences?

(Bisaya) “Okay last question gang. Sa kanang mga experience nimo sa pag tudlo sa teacher. Sa imo about sa grammar structure usage, kanang overall ana sa pag tudlo, sa imo ahm, sa inyo, sa imong learning as student naa bay language development like naka ana baka nga, “Hala haw na kayo ko mo prounouns ug mga words tapos kabalo nako unsay meaning tapos na, tapos kabalo nasasd ko mo construct ug sentence?”

Respondent:

(English) I think there has definitely been improvement in my language skills, not just for myself but also for others. If my friend mispronounces something, I can teach him. That's why teaching languages is important—because if I know, my friend can learn too.

(Bisaya) “I think naa gyuy improvement sa akoang language dili lang para sa akoo para pud sa uban ano na, kung namali akong amigo ug litok pwedi rapud nako sya ma tudloan mao nang importante sa pag tudlo sa mga language kay kung maka balo lang ko maka balo nlng pud akong amigo.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay thank you.

(Bisaya) “Okay thank you gang.”

RESPONDENT 5 RECORDED RESPONSES FOR IN-DEPTH INTERVIEW

Interviewer:

(English) Hi, I’m Ate Nicole, and this is Kuya Ramon and Kuya Judelle. We're conducting a study titled Teacher Modelling of Grammar Usage Towards Students’ Learning at North Davao Colleges, Inc. The purpose of our research is to understand how teachers demonstrate correct grammar in the classroom and how this impacts students' learning. We already have approval from our dean and your principal, which is why we’re here today. We also have a consent form for you to sign, to confirm that you agree to participate in this interview. Is it okay if you sign here? Thank you! Are you ready to begin?

(Bisaya) “Teacher modelling of grammar usage towards students learning, uhm ako si ate Nicole. Tapos siya si kuya Ramon, og siya si kuya judelle. Ang among purpose of the study is to investigate how teachers demonstrate grammar usage in the classroom in the effects of this practices to student learning outcomes in North Davao colleges INC. so.. naa Nami. Naa mi kanang consent gang naa pud mi letter nga gipa pirmahan na sa amoang Dean og sainyohang principal, so ano na siya approved na siya nga mag interview mi sa inyoha. Naa mi diria kanang, name.. name nimo gang nga imohang pirmahan para ma prove na mo sugot ka nga e-interview ka namo karon, okay lang pirmahan? Diri po? Opo. So.. karon, ready na ba ka nga.”

Respondent:

(English) yes.

(Bisaya) “yes po.”

Interviewer:

(English) Ready? Don’t be scared, okay? This is just chill, really. Just relax, gang. It’s all about what you understand.

(Bisaya) “Ready? Ayawg ka hadlok ha, kay chill lang ni. Dili. chill lang jud gang. Sa imoha lang jud masabtan.”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po”

Interviewer:

(English) The first question is: Can you describe an experience where you observed a teacher modeling grammatical structures in their spoken or written communication? So, for this, what can you describe, or what can you say, or what have you seen as an experience while the teacher was teaching? For example, in your English subject, when the teacher teaches about verbs, what did you observe about the way they communicate? What was your experience while they were teaching that?

(Bisaya) “Sige so the first question is, can you describe an experience or you observed a teacher modelling grammatical structures in their spoken or written communication, so.. Kani siya, unsa imong uhm.. ma describe sa..or unsa imong ma ingon..or unsa imong nakita nga experience nga while Naga tudlo si teacher, saiyahang.. saiyahang subject for example sa verb.. sa English subject ninyo diba Gina tudlo ang verb, unsa imong nakita saiyaha while naga storya siya, unsa imong experience while Naga teach siya ana nga communication?”

Respondent:

(English) What I observed about the teacher is that it's not just the voice that I hear, but also the body language that I see. I would describe the teacher's teaching skills as good, and what they explain to us fits well with what they are teaching us.

(Bisaya) “So akong makita saiyaha kay, Dili lang Kay iyang tingog ay.. Dili lang kaayo voice akong madung but iyahang body language pud Niya akong makita, akong ma describe saiyaha is okay lang ang teaching skills sa.. saamong teacher and.. and ilaha pong.. ilaha pong Gina storya is fit po saamong Gina.. para jud saamoa nga g tudlo.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, so did you observe anything in the way the teacher teaches that you have applied outside of school? Like, do you now know how to properly use 'he' or 'she,' or any verbs? What have you understood from it that you've applied outside of school?

(Bisaya) “Okay, so.. naa ba kay uhm..kanang na observe nimo saiyaha ba the way siya mo tudlo or kanang na apply nimo, saiyahang Pag tudlo Niya naa Kay..unsang imong NASABTAN (masabtan) ana, na Gina apply nimo siya Pag gawas nimo sa school, like nakabalo naba ka unsaon pag use ang HE or SHE or unsa.. unsa na mga verb ana.”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po.”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, just go ahead, so are you applying it outside of school? Now, let's proceed to the second question. How did these experiences impact your perception of the teacher's effectiveness in teaching language skills? In the way they speak English, what did you observe from that experience?

(Bisaya) “Kay lang go lang gang, so Gina apply nimo siya? Sa gawas? So mag proceed ta sa ikaduhang question no..naa.. so the second question is, how did this experiences impact your perception of the teachers effectiveness in containing language skills, saiyahang Pag storya Niya the way siya mo.. mo istorya og english, unsa imohang nakita sa kana nga experience.”

Respondent:

(English) What I see is that the teacher can identify what we are lacking, and they focus on teaching us what we need to learn properly.

(bisaya) “Is makita nako is.. makita Niya UG unsa among kulang saamoha iyang e tudlo and diraa siya mag focus unsa iyang e tudlo saamoa para.. kuan.. ma learn pud namo og tarong.”

Interviewer:

(English) So, in this third question, the number three question is: How do you perceive the role of teachers in modeling correct grammatical usage for your language development? This question is asking about what you've perceived or adapted from the teacher's role in modeling correct grammatical usage. When they teach about grammar—like verbs, pronouns, nouns—what have you understood? Were you able to grasp it, and have you been able to apply it, for example, when you're writing an essay?

(Bisaya) “Okay.. so diri ta sa lka duhang.. ay lka Tulo nga answer uhm question, so the number three question is, how do you perceive the rule of teachers in modelling correct grammatical usage for your language development.. so Kani siya nga pangutana is unsa imohang.. uh.. na perceive or imohang na adapt sa.. rule sa teachers about modelling correct uh.. modelling correct grammatical usage, siyang Pag tudlo sa mga.. about sa mga grammar, unsa imohang na sabtan, unsa imohang na adapt saiyahang.. siyang Pag tudlo.. diba si teacher nag tudlo man about sa grammatical structure like verb kanang pronoun, noun.. unsa imohang nasabtan sa pag ano Niya Pag discuss saimoha naka sabot ba ka or na.. na apply ba nimo siya kanang mag buhat kag essay.”

Respondent:

(English) Yes ahm.

(Bisaya) “Yes po ahm.”

Interviewer:

(English) Sige lang, no problem! Take your time, everything's fine langga.

(Bisaya) “Sige lang okay lang langga.. sige lang.”

Respondent:

(English) I'm talking about how verbs are used in essays, and that there are also words like 'he' or 'she' that correspond to our genders.

(Bisaya) “Akoang na kuan Tas yung.. ang verb gamit Kay na siya sa mga essays and naa pajud na mga.. he or she is para rapud na saatong genders.”

Interviewer:

(English) So. Did you understand the things that Ma'am taught about grammatical structures?

(Bisaya) “So. naka sabot ka sa mga kuan ni.. ni ma'am sa mga gi tudlo ni ma'am about sa grammatical structures?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po”

Interviewer:

(English) So, okay, for question number four: How does a teacher's ability to model correct grammatical usage influence your language development and proficiency? This question is about how the teacher discusses grammatical structures with you. Did you notice if they explained things clearly? Did you understand their explanations? How did that influence your language development?

(Bisaya) “So. Okay so. Sa question number four, how does a teachers ability to model correct grammatical usage influence your language development, and proficiency.. so Kani siya nga Kuan question is kung.. sa teachers ability.. sa.. teacher. Sa Pag discuss ni teacher sanyoha about sa grammatical structures langga, uhm kanang naa gud siyay kanang unsa imohang na pansin saiyaha kanang, gi.. like gi Tarong ba niya or naka sabot ba mo saiyahang Pag discuss? Para ma influence inyohang language development?”

Respondent:

(English) I can see that the teacher really discusses things clearly and focuses on grammar, and she also looks for our mistakes in grammar.

(Bisaya) “Makita nako ni teacher is, Gina Tarong jud Niya og discuss and Gina focus pud Niya ang grammatical og iyang pangitaon ug unsa amoang Mali sa grammatical.”

Interviewer:

(English) Because it's for teaching purposes.

(Bisaya) “Kay para e tudlo?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po”

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, so for question number five, based on what you've observed, what specific strategies or methods do you think teachers can use to effectively teach correct grammar for language development? What strategies have you noticed that the teacher uses to help you learn?

(Bisaya) "Okay.. so.. question number five, what specific strategies or methods, do you believe in teachers can employ to effective, correct grammatical towards language development.. so unsa man.. sa imohang Kuan.. sa imohang na observahan, the way mo tudlo si teacher saiyahang subject, undang mga strategies or kanang nakita nimo nga, ay Mao diay nang strategy ni teacher, para Maka tuon mi.. ana,unsa imohang na observe, sa Kay teacher."

Respondent:

(English) And what I've observed from our teacher is that she lets the students speak more and focuses on writing and grammar. She also encourages us to express ourselves, which helps us learn better.

(Bisaya) "ug akong na observe sa among teacher is, let them, the students speak more and.. and focus on writing and.. and grammatical.. and they.. and they also and most teach.. ay, and our teacher is also."

Interviewer:

(English) Like you are being taught.

(Bisaya) "kanang Gina tudluan mo."

Respondent:

(English) Like we are also taught how to pronounce properly and.

(Bisaya) "Kanang Gina tudluan pud mi og how to pronounce properly and."

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, so for you, are these strategies of ma'am effective, like did you understand or was it easy for you to grasp the strategies used by ma'am with you?

(Bisaya) "Okay, so para sa imoha kana siya nga strategies ni ma'am, effective ba siya, like naka sabot ba mo or na.. na dali Ra ba ninyo ma sabtan kana nga strategy gi gamit ni ma'am sainyo?"

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) "Oo."

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, question number six, reflecting on your interaction with a teacher who effectively corrects grammatical usage, how do you think it impacted the overall learning environment or language development? So, for you, between the teacher and the students, who plays a more effective role model in correcting grammatical usage? Is it the teacher or someone else? Who do you think has a more significant impact on your daily life, someone whose lessons you can apply, like a role model? For you, is it the teacher or maybe the guard, haha?

(Bisaya) “Okay.. question number six, ugh, reflecting on your interaction with teacher, who effectively correct grammatical usage, how do you think it impacted.. the.. overall learning environment or language development? So, para sa imoha.. sa ..sa Kay teacher og sa students, kinsa may mas naay effective na nga. Role model gyud sa ahm. correct. correcting grammatical usage kanang. kanang gina correct niya ang. kanang mga mali mali sa grammar. Or kinsa man paminaw nimo, si teacher or. kinsa nga Kuan ma person nga nakita na mas. mas naka Kuan gyud sa kanang, saimohang daily life nimo magamit nimo siya murag siyay imong role model bitaw, sa Pag gawas nimo ay, Kani siya kay taga gawas nako ba kay naa jud koy makuha Saiya nga learnings nga magamit jud nako sa akoang.. sa akoang, imohang kinabuhi. Kini siya nga Kuan, person, para sa imoha.. kinsa man.. ka kinsa.. kinsa.. si teacher ba I mean uhh si guard ba hehe.”

Respondent:

(English) I have to tell the name?

(Bisaya) “E ingon ang pangalan?”

Interviewer:

(English) Can it also be general, like you don't have to mention names, just say 'the teacher'? The question is, reflecting on your interactions with teachers who effectively model correct grammatical usage, how do you think this impacted the overall learning environment for language development? So, with the teacher teaching about grammatical structures, do you think Ma'am's discussions helped a lot, or did everyone learn from it? Have you applied this in other subjects as well?

(Bisaya) “Pwedi rapud, like pwede na Dili pangalan Basta as.. naa langkay..uh.. bhalag General siya nga e ingon nimo, si.. si teacher gyud? Uhm ano gang, uhhh ang question is reflecting on your interactions with teachers effectively model correct grammatical usage, saimoha uhhh. How do you think this impacted the overall learning environment for language development, so si ma'am Naga tudlo about sa grammatical structures. Para sa imoha dako ba og tabang ang Pag discuss ni ma'am sainyoha, or kanang.. kanang kamo ba nakatuon tanan.. or nagamit ba nimo ni.. or nagamit ba gihapon nimo ni nga specific subject sa uban subject?”

Respondent:

(English) Uhhh.. yes, it can also be used outside, especially when you go abroad, you will really need this during interviews related to your skills. Sometimes, if you go to America, you will have to use it there.

(Bisaya) “Uhhh.. yes is.. magamit pud ni siya sa gawas, kanang usahay kay..og mo abroad mo, e Kuan manjud mo ana sa.. sa.. sa unsa kanang e interview manmo anang sa skills ninyo.. usahay og sa America Kuan manmo anang.”

Interviewer:

(English) So, what kind of language do you usually apply when you have an interview? p

(Bisaya) “So, diba, unsa man kasagaran gani nga language Gina.. gina apply basta, mag interview?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Oh.”

Interviewer:

(English) So, did Ma'am's teaching on grammatical structures help you a lot?

(Bisaya) “So.. dako og tabang ang pag.. Pag teach ni ma'am sainyoha og sa grammatical issue.. grammatical strctures?”

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) “Yes po”

Interviewer:

(English) Oh. Okay, so that's all the question.

(Bisaya) “Ohh. Okay, so Mao lang to siya ang question.. Mao lang to siya ang question Ga.”

Interviewer:

(English) Ok, good afternoon, everyone. We are the researchers from the college, uh, we're in our third year. Excuse me, guys, eyes on here. Ok, so remember the previous days when we came here for a session and interview with you? Well, today we're back to check if you have anything to add to your previous answers. Do you have anything new you'd like to add to your responses from last time, or will it be the same answer? Let's start with number one. What was your name again? I mean, are you Erik Altar? You're Erik Altar, right? So here's your question. As a student, how would you describe the teacher while he/she is teaching grammatical structure and written communication? Oh, based on your observations, how would you describe it?

(Bisaya) Ok good afternoon guys. So kami ang mga researchers from colleges ahm, ano third year nami. Excuse me gang eyes on here. Ok so diba tong previouise days niadto nani diria para isa isashon mo ug kanang interview. Tapos karon nibalik mi para kamo tanan ma ano unsay inyuhang madungag sa inyuhang. Naa ba moy maidungag sa inyohang e answer sa question namo dati or mao ba gihapon tong ang inyung e answer. So start ta sa number one. Unsa gani pangalan nimo gang? I mean si Erik Altar? Ikaw si Eric alatar? So ito ang iyong tanong. Bilang isang mag aaral paano mo ma ilalarawan ang guro habang siya ay nag tuturo ng grammatical structure ahm, at syaka written communication ? Oh paano mo mailalarawan basi sa iyong obserbasyon?

Respondent:

(English) Listen carefully. Follow what they say. So that when we learn something, our minds also upgrade.

(Bisaya) Makinig ng maayos. Susundin mga sinasabi nila. Para pag may natutunan kami, mag upgrade din mga utak namin.

Interviewer:

(English) Anything else? Ok, so let's proceed to question 1.2. Who is 1.2? Who is 1.2 here? Are you 1.2? Who is 1.1? No one? Oh, who is 1.2? No one? So this question is for all of you.

The question is, in Bisaya, based on your experience in the classroom while the teacher was teaching grammatical structure, what was the impact on you? Like, did you learn from what the teacher taught you about grammatical structure?

(Bisaya) Ano pa? ok, so proceed tayo sa 1.2 . kinsay 1.2? kinsay 1.2 gang? 1.2 ka? klinsay 1.1 wala? Ay kinsay 1.2 wala? So kani kamo tanan. So ang question, in bisaya kana nga experience nimo sa room habang naga tudlo si teacher ug grammatical structure unsa ang impact sa inyuha? like naka toon bamo? sag i tudlo ni teacher sa inyuha? Aboutn sa grammatical structure ?

Respondent:

(English) Yes.

(Bisaya) Yes.

Interviewer:

(English) Why yes? Answer one by one? How about you?

(Bisaya) Why yes? Isa isa ikaw?

Respondent:

(English) Can you repeat that?

(Bisaya) Pwedi pa ulit?

Interviewer:

(English) Didn't the teacher teach you grammatical structures in the classroom? Based on that experience, do you think the teacher's teaching had an impact on you when it comes to grammatical structures? Like, would you say something like, 'The teacher is really good at teaching because now I understand, and I really learned from them'?

(Bisaya) Ay, Diba si teacher naga tudlo ug grammatical structure sa inyoha sa room. Kana nga experience ninyo ahm, para sa inyo naa bay impact ang pag tudlo ni teachers sa inyoha sa grammatical structures? like naka ingon baka nga kanang “hawd kayo mo mtudlo si teacher kay kabalo nako , kay naka tuon gyud ko sa iyha.

Respondent:

(English) The way our teacher taught us really had an impact. It’s clear that we can understand, and we understand grammatical structures a bit better.

(Bisaya) Naa gyud impact sa pag tudlo sa ma’am namo. Ma klaro gyud nga ay na makasabot ko maka sabot mi gamay sa grammatical structure.

Interviewer:

(English) How about you, then?

(Bisaya) Gi, para sa imoha gang?

Respondent:

(English) For me, the teaching was very organized because everything she taught us was really intact.

(Bisaya) Ako, kay tarong kayo ang pag tudlo sa amoa kay intact gyud kaay po iyahang gipang tudlo sa amoa.

Interviewer:

(English) You, then. Are you David?

(Bisaya) Ikaw day, ikaw david?

Respondent:

(English) There is definitely an impact because we have learned a lot more than before.

(Bisaya) Naa gyuy impact kay daghan man mi na ton an kaysa sa una.

Interviewer:

(English) How about you.

(Bisaya) Ikaw?

Respondent:

(English) We have also learned many things that we didn't know before.

(Bisaya) Daghan pud mi na tun an kana ma wala nmo na sa kabalo sa.

Interviewer:

(English) From your previous year?

(Bisaya) Previous year ninyo?

Respondent:

(English) Yes, from our previous year, our teacher just assigned us activities.

(Bisaya) Oo Previous year namo, teacher lang namo ga hatag, tapos gi hatag niya mga activities.

Interviewer:

(English) And finally, you?

(Bisaya) At ang panghuli ikaw?

Respondent:

(English) Can you repeat that?

(Bisaya) Pa ulit po.

Interviewer:

(English) Ah, so, for you, what do you notice while the teacher is teaching you? Did you learn anything from the teaching? Why would you say that you learned something?

(Bisaya) Ahh para ahm., para sa, para sayo ano ang napapansin mo habang nag tuturo si teacher sa inyo? May na tutunan kaba, sa pag tuturo o pag. Bakit mo masasbi na may natutuban ka?

Respondent:

(English) Exactly, just like I said earlier: listen carefully. Pay attention to the lessons being taught.

(Bisaya) Yun nga, katulad ng sinabi ko kanina making ng maayos. Pakingan ang mga lesson na itinuturo.

Interviewer:

(English) Ok, who is 2.1? You? Alright, for you, how important is the role of a teacher in teaching correct grammar?

(Bisaya) Ok, si kinsa ang 2.1? ikaw? Sigi ahm para sa imo unsa ka emportante ang role sa isa ka teacher sa pag tudlo ug correct grammar?

Respondent:

(English) Who is 2.1? You? Alright, for you, how important is the role of a teacher in teaching correct grammar?

(Bisaya) Can you repeat the question? hehe

Interviewer:

(English) For you, how important is the teacher's role in teaching correct grammar?

(Bisaya) Para sa imo unsa ka importatnete ang role ni teacher sa pag tudlo sa correct grammar?

Respondent:

(English) Yes, it's important that they can correct the... it's more important that they correct the grammar that the students don't know, and then they gradually teach us until we understand it in the classroom.

(Bisaya) Opo kanang, kanang ma correct niya ang.. mas importante man kanang na ma e correct niya ang grammar sa wala ka kabalo sa estudyante, tapos hinay hinayon na niya tapos handtod na ma tudlo niya sa amoa sa classroom.

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, David 2.2, how about the way the teacher taught you the grammar structure? For you, did the teacher deliver it well, like really discussing it properly so that you could say, 'Wow! The teacher is really good because I truly understand and have learned a lot'?

(Bisaya) Okay okay. David 2.2, okay sa pag tudlo ni teachers sa inyo sa correct..ay sa grammar structure para sa imo na deliver ba ni teacher ug tarong ssa inyo like kanang nag discuss gyud tarong ni teacher sa inyuha para maka ingon mo nga "hala! hawda ni teacher oy kay naka balo gyud ko ug naka toun gyud ko".

Respondent:

(English) Yes, because the teacher really explains things clearly to us, like prioritizing the slow learners. Ma'am makes sure that everyone understands.

(Bisaya) Yes po kay.. tarungon gyud ni teacher og kanang, pasabot sa amoa, like, gina una gyudtong slow learners, nga dapat.. dapat e make sure jud ni ma'am nga makabalo tanan.

Interviewer:

(English) 3.1, is it you? For you, what strategies does the teacher need to be effective in teaching and helping you learn?

(Bisaya) 3.1 ikaw? Para sa imo unsa pa ang mga strategy na need ni teacher aron effective ang iyang pag tudlo ug maka toon mo.

Respondent:

(English) It should be, uhhmm... more on reporting, and then the students themselves should really be the ones answering.

(Bisaya) Dapat, uhhmm.. more on reportings ang Kuan then dapat nga ang studyante gyud mismo ang patubagon mismo.

Interviewer:

(English) There should also be more activities, right?

(Bisasya) Dapat more activities pud?

Respondent:

(English) Yes, more activities.

(Bisaya) Yes, more activities.

Interviewer:

(English) Okay, last. Uh, you, right? Your answer was fresh just now because you just spoke?

So, based on your experience with the teacher teaching you about grammatical structure, overall, would you say that you have experienced language development? Like, do you think you really learned from what the teacher taught you, and have you adopted it both inside and outside the classroom?

(Bisaya) Okay last. Ahm ikaw gang fresh pani sa imohang answer ganiha diba kay ganina raka?

So, kana nga mga experience sa pag tudlo ni teacher sa imoha about grammatical structure kanang overall ana sa pag tudlo ahm, maka ingon baka nga naa kay kanang language development. Like naka ingon baka nga naka toon gyud ka sa mga gina tudlo ni teacher sa inyuiha ug na adopt nimo ni sulod sa room ug bisag sa gawas room.

Respondent:

(English) I really have experienced it... it seems that I have developed new language skills because I noticed I'm different now compared to last year. I wasn't able to articulate well back then, but now I can understand better because my teacher has been teaching me. I really have had development in my language skills.

(Bisaya) Naa judkoy na.. murag na.. develop na mga bag-ong language kay napansin nako Kay lahi rako sa.. lahi rakayko atong last year nga.. Dili kaayo ko ka litok kaayo.. nga unsa Mani siya, hantod.. hantod nga ma kabalo nako kay g tudluan manko saakong ma'am.Naa gyud siyay ako gyud development saakong language.

Interviewer:

(English) Do you really have language development?

(Bisaya) Naa gyud language development imong ano?

Respondent:

(English) Yes, yes ma'am. And you can really use it. It has an impact on me personally, and I have learned what it is. And if there's a friend who doesn't know... well, we can teach them too.

(Bisaya) Oo. Yes yes ma'am. . tapos.. ma ano gyud nimo kaning..uhmm magamit nimo. ay.. naa gyud siyay impact sa akoang ano, sarili nga.. nakatu.. ay.. naka tuon nako ani unsa ni siya, tapos ano.. tapos kung naay isa ka Amigo na Dili.. ay.. di na siya ay.. kabalo pwede Rapud namo siya tudluan.

Interviewer:

(English) Alright, so that's all the questions. Okay, can you please state your names one by one?

(Bisaya) Sigi okay, so gang that's all the question. Sigi ahm, pwedi ninyo kanang isulti ang inyung pangalan isa isa.

Respondent:

(English) I am Clent John Arreglo, I am Eric G. Altar, Julius Palomaria, David Rritz M. Suerto, Quin Xavier P. Ponong.

(Bisaya) Ako si Clent john Arreglo, ako si Eric G. Altar, Julius Palomaria, David Rritz M. Suerto, Quin Xavier P. Ponong.

Interviewer:

(English) Okay thank you!

(Bisaya) Okay thank you!

INFORMED CONSENT FORM

Title of the Study: TEACHER MODELING OF GRAMMAR USAGE TOWARDS STUDENTS LEARNING

Name of Researchers: JANNA MARIE C. CAPIN
NICOLE RELAMPAGOS
RAMON DEPALA
JUDELLE VISANDE
ALJON DOMINIC CORDERO

Institution: NORTH DAVAO COLLEGES, INC.

INTRODUCTION

You are invited to participate in a research study conducted by JANNA MARIE C. CAPIN, NICOLE RELAMPAGOS, RAMON DEPALA, JUDELLE VISANDE, ALJON DOMINIC CORDERO of North Davao Colleges, Inc., because you fit the criteria for an informant of this study. Your participation is completely voluntary. Please read the information below, and ask questions about anything you do not understand, before deciding whether to participate. Please take as much time as you need to read the informed consent form.

If you decide to participate, you will be asked to sign this form and a copy will be given to you.

PURPOSE OF THE STUDY

The purpose of this study is to investigate how teachers demonstrate grammar usage in the classroom and the effects of these practices on student learning outcomes in North Davao Colleges, Inc. By examining the strategies used by educators, the research will reveal the subtleties of teacher-student interactions and how direct grammar instruction impacts students' understanding and use of grammatical rules. Additionally, this research intends to identify effective grammar modeling techniques and the challenges educators encounter, ultimately contributing to improved teaching methods that foster students' linguistic growth.

STUDY PROCEDURE

If you volunteer to participate in this study, you will be asked to participate in the in-depth interview and focus group discussion. The in depth-interview will be primarily conducted during your most convenient time and audio recording will be used to document the interview process. Prior to asking you to answer the questions, your informed consent will be sought out first to confirm that your participation is done voluntarily, free from any forms of coercion. All information that will be obtained from the study will be kept private and confidential. Getting the names of the participants are optional, but if they will state their names, the researchers will make sure to keep the information confidential. No names or any identifying information will be used when discussing or reporting the research data. The researchers will keep all files and data collected in a secured online account, and access to data will require password that only the researchers know.

POTENTIAL RISKS AND DISCOMFORT

Generally, there are no foreseeable risks in the conduct of this study both for the respondents and the researcher. However, you may opt not to answer questions which make you feel any psychological or emotional distress, or you may withdraw as a participant of the study if you feel that you cannot discuss the information that is asked of you. Do know, however, that there is no right or wrong answer to the questions that will be asked of you in this study.

Moreover, the reason for foreseeing no risks in the conduct of this study also stems from the fact that the in-depth interview and focus group discussion necessitated for this study will be during your most convenient time and place. This is observed to ensure that the researchers and the informants or respondents will be free from risks and discomfort because of this research undertaking.

POTENTIAL BENEFITS TO PARTICIPATE AND/OR TO THE STUDY

Your participation may help create a significant benefit for both students and educator. It allows to reflect on their learning experiences and how teacher modeling affects their grasp of grammar. This reflection can increase their understanding of effective grammar usage and enhance their language skills, leading to improved academic performance.

For educators, the study's findings can offer valuable insights into effective modeling techniques and how these approaches impact student learning outcomes. By gaining a better understanding of the challenges and successes in grammar instruction, teachers can adjust their methods to better support students' language development.

DATA PRIVACY AND CONFIDENTIALITY

As researchers, we aim to comply with the Data Privacy Act of 2012 (DPA) and cooperate fully with the National Privacy Commission (NPC). We regard your privacy with utmost importance, and we are committed to protecting your data. Your participation in this study is voluntary, and you have the right to withdraw at any time. We will not share your personal information with any third party without your consent. Your data will be stored securely and only used for the purpose of the study. We will delete your data after the study is completed. To this end, rest assured that your information is confidential, except, if permitted by law. Any information you provide will be treated as confidential, except, if permitted by law. Any information you provide will be treated as confidential, except, if permitted by law.
